RESCHEDULED DATES FOR INDIGENOUS DELEGATIONS TO ROME

The following announcement was made Feb. 1, 2022:

The Canadian Catholic Bishops, Assembly of First Nations, Métis National Council and Inuit Tapiriit Kanatami are pleased to announce that the delegation to Rome to meet with Pope Francis, originally planned for December 2021, is now scheduled to take place at the end of March and early April of this year.

In light of the rapid spread of the Omicron variant, both in Canada and throughout the world, a prudent decision was made in December to postpone the delegation out of concern for the safety of all delegates, recognizing the uncertainty regarding travel and the fluid nature of the situation.

Working closely with the Vatican, new dates have been confirmed. The Holy Father is now scheduled to meet with individual Indigenous delegations the week of March 28, 2022. A final audience with all participants will take place on Friday, April 1, 2022.

The health and safety of all delegates remain our first priority. In the weeks ahead, we will monitor conditions leading up to the revised travel dates and continue our dialogue with delegates, public health officials as well as the relevant government and international authorities, traveling only when we feel it is safe to do so.

We remain committed to walking toward healing and reconciliation and very much look forward to the opportunity for Indigenous Elders, knowledge keepers, residential school survivors, and youth to meet with Pope Francis.

ARCHDIOCESE OF TORONTO PLEDGES TO BE A MAJOR SUPPORTER OF NATIONAL INDIGENOUS RECONCILIATION FINANCIAL EFFORT

The Archdiocese of Toronto is promising to be a major contributor toward the Catholic Bishops in Canada's pledge to raise $30 million to support Indigenous reconciliation initiatives, after more details of the national fundraising effort were announced last week. "Children were separated from their parents because of residential schools and for that reason alone Catholics should not have participated in that system," said Cardinal Thomas Collins, Archbishop of Toronto. "I reiterate the apology of the Canadian bishops in September 2021 as we reflect on the harm and intergenerational trauma caused by residential schools."

The Archdiocese of Toronto will contribute $6 million in funds over five years toward the national $30 million goal.

"Everything the archdiocese does is the result of generous gifts from our parishioners," said Jim Milway, Chancellor of Temporal Affairs at the Archdiocese of Toronto. "Through the stewardship of these gifts, the archdiocese will ensure we meet our fundraising commitment."

In addition to raising awareness and offering opportunities to support the healing and reconciliation fund financially throughout the year, the archdiocese will invite the faithful to participate in an annual special collection held in the fall, near the National Day for Truth and Reconciliation. The archdiocese will also draw on funds in existing operations and assets, ensuring the $6 million pledge is fulfilled.

A national charitable organization has been established to administer these funds, governed by a board of eminent Indigenous and Catholic representatives. A local committee will determine funding priorities, but it is anticipated there will be a focus on supporting projects that further:

- Healing and reconciliation for communities and families
- Culture and language revitalization
- Education and community building
- Dialogues for promoting indigenous spirituality and culture.

This fundraising commitment adds to the more than $55 million previously contributed by Catholic entities through the Indian Residential School Settlement Agreement, the apology by the Catholic Bishops in Canada and Pope Francis' planned visit to Canada to meet with Indigenous people.
